What: Child Advocacy Center 15th Anniversary

When: Nov. 13, 2006 at 2:00 p.m.

Where: Child Advocacy Center
3421 Rogers Avenue, Ellicott City, Md.

Attention Assignment Editors:

The Howard County Child Advocacy Center (CAC) is celebrating its 15th Anniversary on Monday, Nov. 13, at 2:00 p.m.

Guest speakers will include Howard County Executive James Robey, States Attorney /Chairman of the CAC Executive Committee Tim McCrone, acting Chief of Police William McMahon, and Administrator for the Office of Children's Services Dale Jackson.

The Howard County Child Advocacy Center, which is also known as the "Listening Place," was created to address child physical and sexual abuse in an effective and compassionate manner. The CAC is a collaboration of several different agencies including: the Howard County Department of Police, Howard County State's Attorney's Office, Howard County Child Protective Services, Howard County Health Department, Sexual Trauma, Treatment, Advocacy and Recovery (STTAR) Center, and Domestic Violence Center.

The event will include a tour of the "Listening Place," and presentations to past program managers. Light refreshments will be provided.
